

Primitive Data Type (Bergman)

BE 16

- « In XML, every data value is of type string. However, data values in the conventional data source can have other primitive types. »
- « One way of resolving this conflict is to attach each simple element with an extra attribute indicating the original data type. »