BE 26

- « Even should the correct encoding be detected, there are significant differences in different langage sources in parsing (white space, for example), syntax and semantics that can also lead to many error types. »